

July 15-21 2007

Plenty of grey skies this week, but also some nice morning colours.

A Friday excursion to the foreshore reflected some great gnarled cypress trees
..... and the dam levels are looking good

The foreshore trees are probably enjoying of a bit of a paddle
post-drought

Seeing the last
Harry Potter book
has been released,
seems appropriate
the trees can look
more than a bit creepy
